

LINHAN CUI, conductor

“Some believe conductors are born, not made. Linhan Cui is human embodiment of that idea.” – Andrew Mellor

Conductor Linhan Cui has established herself as a sought-after artist, recently winning the second prize in the Malko International Conducting Competition and being named as a Dudamel Fellow of the Los Angeles Philharmonic for the 2022/23 season.

With natural expressivity at the core of her work, her experience includes performances with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, Danish National Symphony Orchestra, Korean Symphony Orchestra, Xinghai Symphony Orchestra, "Transylvania" State Philharmonic Orchestra of Cluj-Napoca, etc.

As an Assistant Conductor, Linhan has worked with many world-renowned maestros such as Leon Fleisher and Xian Zhang and assisted more than fifty concerts with orchestras around the world.

During the 2019-2020 season, Linhan was appointed Conducting Fellow by the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra where she had the privilege of serving as Marin Alsop's cover conductor.

Cui was born in Shenyang, China and began her piano study at the age of four. She started conducting at age eighteen when she was the only accepted student at the Xinghai Conservatory, Guangzhou, completing her undergraduate studies there. She is pursuing doctoral studies in orchestral conducting at the Indiana University Jacobs School of Music under the guidance of Arthur Fagen. Cui holds a master of music degree from the Peabody Conservatory. She has participated in a masterclass with the National Symphony Orchestra.
